

November

2024

SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
					1 	2
3 	4 	5 Shape Hunt	6 Movie Night	7 Family Dance Party	8 Sink or Float	9 Library or Book Store Visit
10 Emotions Game	11 Sing and Learn	12 	13 Morning Chat	14 Handprint Art	15 Build a Fort	16 Fall Colors Collage
17 Nature Walk	18 Shadow Puppet Show	19 Thankfulness Talk	20 	21 Fall Nature Craft	22 Family Game Night	23
24 Kitchen Helper	25 	26 Thanksgiving Tree	27 Holiday Decorations	28 	29 Family Storytime	30

Nov 5th - Shape Hunt

Go on a shape hunt around the house, looking for circles, squares, triangles, etc. This strengthens recognition and categorization skills.

Nov 6th - Family Movie Night

Cozy up for a fun movie night that boosts early learning! After the film, discuss the characters and story. Ask questions like, "What would you do in that character's shoes?" This sparks imagination and builds language skills while creating lasting memories!

Nov 7th - Family Dance Party

Host a mini dance party!
Dancing helps children develop motor skills and coordination while having fun.

Nov 8th - Sink or Float

Let your child test which items float or sink—try sponges, toy boats, or spoons. Ask, “ Will this float or sink? ” to build curiosity and early science skills while they splash and learn!

Nov 9th - Library or Bookstore Visit

Take your little one to a local library or bookstore. Choose books together and enjoy a read-aloud session to spark imagination and build literacy skills.

Nov 10th - Emotions Game

Use facial expressions to encourage your child to guess the emotion you're portraying. This interactive game not only builds social and emotional awareness but also enhances your child's ability to recognize and understand feelings in themselves and others, fostering empathy and communication skills.

Nov 11th - Sing and Learn

Engaging in singing nursery rhymes and favorite songs helps develop language skills, rhythm awareness, memory, and social-emotional skills. It can also enhance listening skills and encourage creativity.

Nov 13th - Morning Chat

Start your day with a chat! Share today's plans or routines with your little one—it builds language skills and gives them a comforting sense of structure. Making these small conversations a daily habit can make a big difference!

Nov 14th - Handprint Art

Gather the whole family for a fun and creative handprint painting session! Each family member can add their handprint to a shared canvas, creating a unique piece of art that symbolizes your togetherness. Once finished, proudly display your masterpiece at home as a reminder of your family's bond and creativity.

Nov 15th - Build a Fort

Gather blankets, pillows, and furniture to build a cozy fort together! This fun activity helps kids learn problem-solving as they work with you to create a sturdy structure, while also sparking creativity and imagination. Once it's built, snuggle inside for a story or snack!

Nov 16th - Fall Colors Collage

Gather leaves, acorns, and other natural treasures from your outdoor adventures. Use glue and paper to arrange them into a beautiful masterpiece! This activity promotes fine motor skills and encourages discussions about nature and colors.

Nov 17th - Nature Walk

Go for a family walk and explore the plants and animals around you! Point out trees, flowers, or birds and ask questions like, “What colors do you see?” or “How many legs does it have?” This activity builds curiosity and sharpens observation skills, making each walk an adventure in learning!

Nov 18th - Shadow Puppet Show

Bring creativity to life with a family shadow puppet show! Create simple puppets using cardboard or paper, then use a flashlight or lamp to cast shadows on the wall. Let your child use their imagination to tell a story or act out their favorite tale!

Nov 19th - Thankfulness Talk

This month, take a moment to share what you're grateful for with your little one. Talk about the people, experiences, or things that bring joy to your family, and encourage your child to share their own gratitude. This simple activity teaches the importance of kindness, empathy, and appreciation.

Nov 21st - Fall Nature Craft

Use leaves, pinecones, and other nature treasures to create your own artwork! This fun activity connects kids to the beauty of nature while fostering creativity and imagination. Gather your materials and let your child's artistic talents shine!

Nov 22nd - Family Game Night

Game night isn't just fun—it's a great way to support your toddler's learning! From simple board games to interactive card games, these activities help build important skills like turn-taking, counting, and following directions. Plus, they encourage family bonding and communication!

Nov 24th - Kitchen Helper

Involve your little ones in meal prep and turn cooking into a fun learning experience! Count ingredients, name colors, and explore textures together. This hands-on activity is a fantastic way to practice math and observation skills while bonding as a family. Get ready for some delicious learning!

Nov 26th - Thanksgiving Tree

Create a special gratitude tree together! Gather some paper leaves and let each family member write down what they're thankful for. Hang the leaves on a branch or a wall to create a beautiful display of gratitude.

Nov 27th - Holiday Decorations

Engage your little ones in creating homemade decorations! Working as a family not only sparks creativity but also promotes early learning skills like planning and fine motor development. Let your child's imagination shine as you craft together. Think paper snowflakes, painted ornaments, or festive garlands!

Nov 28th - Family Storytime

Snuggle up with your little ones for a fun storytime! Take turns reading and ask questions about the story to spark their imagination and boost language skills. Make it a special routine and watch your child's love for reading grow!

